FOOTBALL

CHARTERHOUSE v WINCHESTER

At Redhill. March 31st. W. N. B. Parker
 Won 2—1.
 (Godden, Spratt)

On March 31st a return match with Winchester was played at Redhill. This was due to the initiative of Mr. A. H. Leppard, who has refereed inter-school matches since 1933 at Charterhouse. Recently other schools have also realized his worth and he has now quite a clientèle of Public Schools who clamour for his benign but very efficient whistling on the field of battle. As he has had a wide experience of professional and amateur league Soccer, we feel it a great compliment that he appreciates our sort of football so much that he enticed Charterhouse and Winchester to stage a repeat performance at Redhill with the prime object of showing the local rising talent that it is possible to play a really hard game without questioning the motives of the opponents if one is sent for six. As a result of his energy, some two thousand people saw a very typical school match in which there was plenty of incident, quite a lot of good football and plenty of missed chances. Quite a lot of Old Wykehamists and Old Carthusians swelled an enthusiastic crowd in the stand. Winchester started off as though they were determined to avenge the defeat they suffered at Charterhouse, and in the first five minutes they scored through a run by Butler, who put the ball to Walker who was unmarked and who scored with a magnificent drive. Charterhouse equalized through a long shot from Godden, at which en passant a Winchester back let loose a powerful but inaccurate kick which easily baffled his 'keeper a few feet away. Charterhouse got their winning goal about ten minutes from the end through a fine shot by Spratt into the right-hand corner.

A three course meal (most generously provided by G. J. Searle, Esq., O.C.) rounded off a very pleasant afternoon and we sincerely hope that the standard of play came up to expectations, and that the bangs and bounces occurred on fruitful ground. Any profits went to the Army Cadet Corps.

HOCKEY

CHARTERHOUSE v R.A.F. REGIMENT

At Home. March 10th. W. N. B. Parker
 Won 4—1.
 (Henshaw 3, May)

CHARTERHOUSE—G. R. W. Carter (Capt.); W. N. Kitson, ma., W. N. B. Parker; F. J. Hill, D. G. Francis, C. G. R. Buxton; A. L. Albu, P. S. I. Godden, P. B. H. May, T. D. T. Henshaw, E. P. Wilson.

CHARTERHOUSE v HURSTPIERPOINT

At Home. March 14th. W. N. B. Parker
 Lost 2—4.
 (Albu, May)

The game began badly for Charterhouse. Not long after the start Kitson fumbled on the edge of the circle, allowing a Hurstpierpoint forward to rush and take the ball from him: the shot which followed gave Carter no chance. A few minutes later Francis and Carter muddled each other and Hurstpierpoint took the opportunity to score a second goal. Then Charterhouse pulled themselves together. Albu ran through by himself and scored an excellent goal, which was followed not long afterwards by another resulting from a hard shot from Wilson which was finally put in by May. At half-time the score was two-all.

With a quarter of an hour left, Hurstpierpoint scored their third goal from a melée in front of goal after a corner, the ball actually being deflected into the net by Parker. This virtually decided the match. Although the Charterhouse forwards, brilliantly led by Godden, tried hard to equalize, they met with no success. Their faults were their tendency to be offside far too often and their slowness to shoot in the circle. A few minutes from the end Hurstpierpoint scored again from the back line, making the final score 2—4. Charterhouse were rather unlucky and perhaps deserved a more complimentary result. For the defence Carter and Parker played very well indeed. However, it was an excellent game and the visitors proved just the better side: their
